In content implemented using markup languages, elements have complete start and end tags, elements are nested according to their specifications, elements do not contain duplicate attributes, and any IDs are unique, except where the specifications allow these features.

2.1.2 Error: Elements with role=listbox must contain or own an element with role=option and must not contain elements with other roles.

WAI-ARIA 1.2: The listbox role requires ownership of an element using the option or group role. The 'role' attribute is not necessary for carousel elements.

2.1.3 Error: Several links on a page share the same link text and surrounding context, but go to different destinations.

Make the link text unique for each target page (which helps all users) or add an aria-label or aria-describedby to the link (which helps screen reader users).

2.1.3 Error: ARIA control has no label.

A link name allows screen readers to voice what the link does. If there is no link text / alt text, or the text/image is hidden by CSS, screen readers have nothing to read, so read out the URL instead. To add a name do one of the following:

- Add text between the a element start and end tags
- Add an aria-label attribute
- Add an aria-labelledby attribute
- Add a descriptive img alt attribute if the link contains an img element

PDF graphics with missing ALT attributes cause problems in the:

- NVDA 2021 with Chrome: a meaningless label like 'unlabeled graphic' is voiced.
- NVDA 2021 with Firefox: the image is ignored.
- JAWS 2021 with Chrome: a meaningless label like 'unlabeled graphic' is voiced.
- JAWS 2021 with Firefox: the image is ignored.
- VoiceOver macOS with Safari: a meaningless label like 'image' is voiced.
- VoiceOver iOS with Safari: a meaningless label like 'image' is voiced.

Each image should have an ALT attribute describing the picture, which screen readers can read aloud.

A label (or name) linked to the control allows screen readers to voice the label correctly when reading the control. To add a label do one of the following:

- Use a label element with the for attribute set to the ID of the form control
- Wrap a label element around the form control
- Add a title attribute
- Add an aria-label attribute
- Add an aria-labelledby attribute

Add text to the heading, or alt text if the heading contains an image. Screen readers read out page headings, allowing users to skip to a section quickly, but some older screen readers do not ignore empty headings.

2.2.1 Error: Identify row and column headers in data tables using <th> elements, and mark layout tables with role=presentation.

https://www.yeovil.ac.uk/commercial/nursery/ https://www.yeovil.ac.uk/course-levels/ https://www.yeovil.ac.uk/study-with-us/levels-explained/ https://www.yeovil.ac.uk/study-with-us/student-support/iag/ https://www.yeovil.ac.uk/study-with-us/student-support/lrc/ https://www.yeovil.ac.uk/study-with-us/travel/ https://www.yeovil.ac.uk/your-iot-courses/
Data tables allow screen reader users to understand column and row relationships. Layout tables read cells as a series of unrelated paragraphs with no tabular structure. Without <th> or role, screen readers apply heuristics to decide whether a table is a layout table or data table. These heuristics vary greatly between screen readers and are affected by the browser being used, window size, and font size (so the outcome is very unpredictable without <th> or role). If a data table has headers marked up using td, then change these to th. If a data table has no headers, add <th? elements describing each row and/or column. If the table is only used for layout add role=presentation to the table element. Impact on users: • JAWS Reading: Treats tables without th and role as layout tables if the table contains cells above or below certain pixel sizes. This measurement is affected by browser window size, browser font size, and the browser used. • NVDA Reading: Applies a layout table heuristic to tables without th and role which varies depending on the browser used and on the window size in some circumstances. • VoiceOver Reading: Uses a sophisticated heuristic on tables without th and role, which is similar (but not identical) to the heuristic used by NVDA with Firefox.

2.2.2 Error: Inserting images and non-text content directly into frames via the src attribute makes the image inaccessible.

https://www.yeovil.ac.uk/careers-hub/introduction-to-careers/
The 'Careers Plan' image on this page does not need to be an iFrame. It can simply be an image with suitable alt text that can be understood and read aloud by screen readers.

2.2.3 Error: Link uses general text like 'Click Here' with no surrounding text explaining the link's purpose.

This issue was also found on another 17 pages. For remedial works, a full list of URLs will be sent to the development team.

Link text: "Click here"
https://www.yeovil.ac.uk/commercial/nursery/

Link text: "Read more"
https://www.yeovil.ac.uk/school-leavers/

Screen reader users use text around links to help understand what the link does. If the link text is very general, and there's no surrounding text, there's no way to work out what the link does. Either use a descriptive link label (which helps all users) or add an aria-label or aria-describedby to the link (which helps the screen reader users).

Add a title attribute or ARIA label to each iframe and frame element (e.g. title='Main Content'). Without a title, some screen readers read out the frame filename, which is usually meaningless.

Impact on users:

- VoiceOver macOS 12.5 Safari 15.6 macOS 12.5.1 Reading: Meaningless frame title read out.
- VoiceOver macOS 11.5 Safari 15.0 macOS 11.5.2 Reading: Meaningless frame title read out.

- VoiceOver macOS 10.14 Safari 13.0 macOS 10.14.6 Reading: Meaningless frame title read out.

2.2.9 Error: <img> elements must have an accessible name.

These images appear to be the images at the bottom of the page that include various logos. Institute of Technology and Disability confident etc.

Add an alt attribute describing the image, which screen readers voice instead of the image. Spacer images and purely decorative images should use alt="". Do not use alt text containing only spaces since that's voiced as an unlabeled image.

2.3 Level AA - This is a higher level of accessibility and is enough to make a website accessible to as many people as reasonably possible. You are legally obliged to meet this level.

Error 2.3.2 Ensure that text and background colours have enough contrast.

The standard defines two levels of contrast ratio: AA (minimum contrast) and AAA (enhanced contrast).

The level AA requires a contrast ratio of at least 4.5:1 for normal text and 3:1 for large text (at least 18pt) or bold text.

The level AAA requires a contrast ratio of at least 7:1 for normal text and 4.5:1 for large text or bold text.

Another point of note:

The carousel on the homepage and the news page have arrows that fail accessibility standards. Consider adding a background to them to make them more obvious. They are difficult to see.

Error 2.3.3 The CSS outline or border style on this element makes it difficult or impossible to see the dotted link focus outline.

Do not remove the default outline style, and change any border styles to avoid obscuring the focus outline around focusable elements. Using a border or outline style that obscures the focus ring causes problems for keyboard-only users in: - Chrome (obscures the focus indicator on links, buttons, dropdowns and range controls)   - Firefox (obscures the focus indicator on links)

3. Compatibility

This section shows pages that exhibit browser-specific behaviour or trigger browser bugs.

Priority 1

3.1

https://www.yeovil.ac.uk/about/vision-mission-values/
Most browsers display a security warning when a secure (https) web page includes (http) content. Modern browsers will not display, or ignore, the http content. To fix this: use relative URL paths ../images/file.png; or full URL paths /images/file.png; or absolute https URLs https://example.com/images/file.png.

Priority 2

https://www.yeovil.ac.uk/ https://www.yeovil.ac.uk/apprenticeships/ https://www.yeovil.ac.uk/school-leavers/ https://www.yeovil.ac.uk/university-centre/ https://www.yeovil.ac.uk/vocational/
CSS flow relative margin-block- and margin-inline- properties are not supported by all browsers. Use traditional margin properties, in addition to flow relative margins, as a fallback for older browsers.

3.3

https://www.yeovil.ac.uk/ https://www.yeovil.ac.uk/apprenticeships/ https://www.yeovil.ac.uk/school-leavers/ https://www.yeovil.ac.uk/university-centre/ https://www.yeovil.ac.uk/vocational/
CSS flow relative padding-block- and padding-inline- properties are not supported by all browsers. Use traditional padding properties, in addition to flow relative padding, as a fallback for older browsers.

https://www.yeovil.ac.uk/wp-content/themes/yeovil/css/bootstrap.min.css?ver=6.2.2
The orphans CSS property is not supported by some browsers.

3.5

https://www.yeovil.ac.uk/wp-content/themes/yeovil/css/bootstrap.min.css?ver=6.2.2
The widows CSS property is not implemented by some browsers.

4. Standards

This section shows pages that do not comply with W3C standards. Just like mobile devices, screen reader devices regularly receive updates. If a webpage does not comply with new technologies like HTML 5, screen readers have a hard time understanding and most importantly reading content.
